

Get the Best FUE Hair Transplant in Bangalore At Maira Wellness

Gone are those days when hair fall/loss used to be a big issue. Now, with the ever-evolving era of technology, it can be done by professionals within the less time you could ever imagine. That's the power of technology and science these days. Hair transplantation procedures can be classified into two aspects.

1. Follicular Unit Transplantation (FUT)
2. Follicular Unit Extraction (FUE)

FUT hair treatment involves extracting some skin from the back of the scalp where the hair is abundant, then reinserting the removed follicles from that strip of the skin, and hair follicles into the part of the scalp where individuals were experiencing hair loss. (Website)

FUE is of the same process but, instead of the back of your scalp, it involves taking the hair from another part of your body where the hair's thinner or absent. It is much more popular than FUT. The surgeons of Maira Wellness use micro punches to extract a single follicle from one part of your body to the scalp, leaving behind no sign of any hair removal.
